Successful "Best Ever" All Stag Party

From east, west, north and south dozens of cars wended their way last Saturday night to the big home of Tom Sletto on the Fireguard road, where Tom and Dan McRae's real home to numerous friends.

Those who were fortunate enough to take advantage of the invitation certainly had a royal time and history will now date back to when Tom and Dan held their party.

Dr. Freeze provided at the bridge table, while Art Hopkins did the grand at the table of chips.

Guy Dow and Melvin Granlin were the insulting engineers in the radio room, and they claim that inside static was never so bad.

Ab. Brett cut the ices, and the Calgary Stampede Barbecue had nothing on the quality and quantity of the good eats which were served up for the guests.

Geo. Campbell led the community singing, but when it came to singing O Canada, Geo. just couldn't remember the words.

The guests register showed those in attendance as follows:

W. Sloan, Ed. Grover, Albert Brett, Tom Sletto, D. McRae, G. M. Campbell, F. Whitmarch, Oscar Hagg, F. Rachet, John Miller, W. Bradley, V. McLeod, Herbert Gill, O. Ditto, S. Stavden, W. F. McDonald, Irv Fisher, F. Blachly, D. Harper, E. Freeze, John Giolo, Ole Ranning, B. Hummel, J. Germaine, H. Smith, W. Boazth, Art Hopkins, D. Chamberlin, E. L. Bassett, A. Barberis, C. Anderson, D. P. Lloyd, F. Gottenburg, E. Mason, Guy Dow, F. Starr, Ray Warren and U. M. Granlin.

It used to be Tom and Jerry, now it's Tom and Dan.

Many people were at a loss to know who the Big White House was all "lit up" for this occasion.

Wall Street and Ed. Grover could qualify at the Paliser as waiters any time.

The wives seemed to still have a hold on some of the boys. Bert Gill left quite early.

Frouchy Barberis says, Ze rabbit is funny, when ze runs ze jumps and when ze sits down ze stands up.

Vernie McLeod was always ready when some one said "now you tell one."

Ed. Mason said evenings like this was all that one needed to forget being a bank manager.

John Giolo was in fine voice and rendered The Marseillaise with sputt gusto.

"Pass the shees" said Charlie Anderson and then came home with the wrong cap.

Fred Bassett said he didn't worry about his new Essex freezing up as he had a good mixture in it.

Oscar Hagg showed the spirit of 1812 when he danced the charleston with great abandon.

Barny Hummel has already received a tempting offer from Henry Ford as his lead fiddler in "The Music Master."

John Miller was in great form and his calling in the square dances was wonderful.

Dad Starr shakes a wicked foot, especially with a partner of F. Whitmarch.

When Danny Harper reached for his hat and coat everybody decided it was time to go.

President's Rinks Eat Free Oysters

The vice-president's followers treated the members of the president's rinks to eat and oyster supper at the Savoy Cafe on Monday night, the latter having won the first curling competition.

After the tasty morsels had been devoured an impromptu meeting of the curling club was held. January 25 to 29 was chosen as the date of the annual local bonspiel, and Friday, Jan. 29 as the date for a carnival. The fee for curlers entering the bonspiel was fixed at $1, the additional money to be spent in providing better prizes. Every member of the club is expected to take part in the canvas for outside players for the bonspiel.

BARRAGHER—CASTARGR
The marriage of R. Barragher and Miss Genevieve Castor took place at Vulcan on Monday. Both young people are widely known in this vicinity and congratulations will be general.

Winston Cooper, son of H. Cooper, headed his class in Grade XII in Calgary, at examination held recently.

A corn growers' meeting will be held at Carmangay on Monday, Jan. 18th. Prof. Murray will be the principal speaker.

F. L. Bassett has purchased a Essex car from A. Kramer. Mr. Kramer has also sold three Hudson cars for spring delivery. The Salvation Army will be in charge of the service at Blaissen school on Sunday next, January 17th. The "Army" will be glad to see you at this service.

J. F. Clapp has just installed a new harness sewing machine which will make his shop equipment right up-to-date in every respect. Repairs, etc., can now be handled with increased promptness.

Alterations in the interior of the Bank of Hamilton building have now reached a stage where the end is in sight. The changes undoubtedly utilizes the space available to much better advantage for both the staff and the public.

G. F. Smith, George Mark, P. P. Peterson, Morgan Smith, P. M. Patterson and P. Holmes attended a corn growers' meeting at Carmangay last Monday. After hearing C. H. Messenger handle the corn question they returned home and will go extensively into corn in the spring. Charley was always irritable.

W. Treely pass on this advice: Don't put your trust in curling ice. For though it looks so clean and bright And glitters in the electric light It has as blues.

Apprenticeship Plan in B.C.

Beginners Will Be Interested Same As System in Great Britain

The indentured apprenticesystem, practiced with success in the British Isles for many years, will be given a thorough trial in the building trades of British Columbia.

The Vancouver board of trade and the trades and labor council have thrown their support behind the proposal and a committee of labor and contractors' representatives has been appointed to act as an apprenticeship council. The first work of the council will be the undertaking of a survey to secure the interest of contractors in the apprenticeship principle and to ascertain the requirements of apprentices.

The apprenticeship plan has aroused much interest among the youth of the city and many inquiries have been made. It is expected to be an important factor in the labor market, so, under present conditions, complain that it is difficult to encourage boys and young men to continue at a specific trade long enough to acquire skill. The plan is expected to lead to a general stimulation of industrial efficiency.

Says Hoover's Statements Unwise

London Times Comments on His Criticism of Britain Regarding Rubber

The London Times, which previously had not commented editorially on the rubber controversy, says:

"We regret that Secretary Hoover allowed himself to be drawn into a series of statements which can only be described as impudent and calculated to cause ill-feeling among Americans. Imperfectly familiar with the facts, he has uttered statements of profounding—for that is what they amount to—gross untruths."

"There is not a single recommendation left for common sense. At the heat, Mr. Hoover's harrumph cannot increase the world's production of rubber; at the worst, they may serve to check a world-wide movement for the amicable settlement of economic difficulties between nations by mutual conciliation and agreement."

Canada In 1926
Dominion Is Now On the Crest Of a Wave of Prosperity

Canada is entering upon a new year with possibly the best prospects she has ever had. For some reason or other, whether it has been of our own making or that nature has been particularly kind to us, the year has been a year of good crops, our mining industry has been better, our forest resources have been actively exploited and our manufacturing plants have gradually increased production. In fact, the possibilities seem to be about all we could desire, and there is only one question to be asked, "What are we going to do with the most of our opportunities?"

If we sit tight and limit the range of our vision to our immediate vicinity we may not see the bright outlook, while if we wish to be pessimists we can certainly find an excuse for being so. But we would be foolish in inaction, a bonny old reason for any feeling of depression. Canada's clouds, the result of post-war conditions, are rapidly clearing away, and from a silver lining is shining forth brightness that bids fair for Canada upon the crest of the wave of prosperity in the coming year.

Radio May Cure Deafness

Manitoba Government Considering the Installation of Receiving Apparatus in School for the Deaf

Installation of radio receiving apparatus in the Manitoba School for the Deaf is under consideration by the Provincial Government. Such action awaits only conclusive proof that such would be beneficial, according to Dr. J. Fletcher, deputy minister of education.

The authorities, while inclined to postpone action pending expert opinion on the curative influence of radio, have decided to make a two-fold series of cases of deafness which will be used in the restoration of the auditory faculties through the use of the radio. Many children at the provincial school for the deaf have been listening to radio for years, according to Dr. Fletcher, superintendent, he declares.

No Longer Necessary to "Dose" Children With Internal Medicines to Break Colds.

Children's digestion is easily upset by too much "dosing." Vicks Vapo-Rub is a natural, easily applied ointment that does not upset little ones.

At the first sign of a cold, give Vicks Vapo-Rub to any cold child. It is a salve that does not irritate the throat. There is nothing to swallow you just "rub it on."

Old London's Latest Fad

Fashionable Bond Street Has Beauty Parlor For Dogs

Beauty parlors for dogs constitute the latest of London's immemorial fads.

The first of the parlors has opened in fashionable Bond Street, and have many can take her pet Pekinese or Chow or Pomeranian, to be shorn or shampooed, pedicured or perfumed, massaged or manicured.

Another beauty parlor is a canine restaurant, where dogs can be bathed for the day or evening, assured of high-bred dog society and treated at meal time.

The beauty parlor even undertakes to ship by aeroplane dogs to be sent out of the country.

Disfiguring Pimples Healed By Cuticura

Nothing purer, more economical or more satisfactory than these preparations.

ward to Wollaston Lake, which was a bold hundred miles north of the Gray Lake.

The first week in November he turned his team, following the Canoe River for a distance, and then swinging westward along a twist creek called the Little Black Bear With No Tail. More than once did these weeks pass without a touch with man, but, with the exception of the Cree hunter at the upper end of Wollaston Lake, no man had seen him. Three times in following the Gekle River he had been within sight of a camp passed; half a dozen times, in the stillness of night, he heard about cabins and tepees in which there was life, and once he came so near to the Hudson's Bay Company post at Wollaston Lake that he heard the barking of dogs and the shouting of their masters. And always he was seeking—questing for the thing that had gone out of his life.

On the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God. How unsearchable are His judgments, and how vast past finding out—Rom. x. 33.

Sayest thou, I know not how or where, No help I see wherein I turn;

When of all else we most despair,

The riches of God's love we learn;

And when I and I His hand no longer trace,

He leads us forth into a pleasant place.

—Paul Gerhardt

We never know through what divine means the universe is ruled. The Great Father of our universe may be seen to give out His sublime plan in these words, "God is love," ought to contain, to every doubtful heart, the solution of all things.

GUARD THE BABY AGAINST COLDS

By Keeping Baby's Own Tablets in the House at All Times

To guard the baby against colds nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets.

When the baby is born, the infant's own showed no signs of accepting the grown-up Babes as had accepted the baby Babes of long ago. He was big, black, and wolfish now—a long-fanged, sharp-clawed, and toothed beast, and though he offered no violence he was regarded by the beavers with a deep-seated feeling of fear and suspicion.

On the other hand, Babes, now a tiny, helpless, and toothless puppy, did not give the beavers play with the baby beavers, so that almostness did not trouble him as in those other days.

All through the month of August Babes made the beaver-ponds his headquarters. At times his excursions were long, and at other times but a few hours.

These journeys were always into the north, sometimes a little east and sometimes a little west, but never again to the south. At last, only in September, he left the beaver-ponds, good.

For many days his wanderings carried him in no one particular direction. He followed the hunting, living chiefly on rabbits and that simple-minded sort of partaking of the dead which was his only food, as he was given variety in other places as they happened to come his way. Wild currants and raspberries were ripe, and Babes was fond of these. He also liked the wild onions, which, along with the soft balloon and spruce pitch which he licked with his tongue now and then, were good medicine for him. In short he was the ocean of health.

He had almost forgotten to return to his nest, but the old bear to him, his mother, had built up new interest for him.

A year in his life was a long time—a decade of man's experience.

It was more than a year ago that he had left Kazan and Gray Loon, and he had not been back since.

Now there was no more here to hold him than the memory of those days of his earliest puppyhood, of the stream into which he had fallen, and of his fierce battle with Paquachisew.

It was his later experiences that brought him back to his nest, however. He came to the bird canyon up which Neopee and Pierrot had chased him. That seemed but yesterday.

And now, for the first time in many weeks, a bit of the old-time eagerness was back, and the old bear was again bold that had been lazy and indolent through forgetfulness were becoming realities again, and as he went back to the Gray Loon he had Neopee there so now, with something of the feeling of a wonderer gone home, he returned to the old bear-pond.

It was that most glorious hour of summer's day—sunrise—when he reached it. He stopped a moment, his eyes half closed, and his little head tilted back, and sniffed the air and listened. The pond was there. He caught the cool, honey smell of it and the others?

Would he be safe? He strained his eyes, and after a moment or two it came—a hollow splash in the water. He went quietly through the water and stood at last close to the spot where he had first made the acquaintance of Neopee. Watch for the name "Neopee" is red on the label and package.

It does.

Believes All Life Originated In Asia

R. C. Andrews Says People Related to American Indians

Mr. Roy Chapman Andrews, who is returning with the American Museum of Natural History's third expedition to the Gobi Desert of Mongolia, declared: "We received confirmation on our second expedition for the first time of our theory that all life originated and thrived on the Asiatic continent before the Gobi Desert, the cradle of human life, which lived 20,000 years ago. These people migrated to other parts of the world, but the cradle of life is there. I believe those people were related to the American Indians, and that they crossed the Bering bridge once connected Asia and North America, and that a great sea extended, in paleozoic times, through the entire central Asia plateau, from the Caspian Sea to the Pacific Ocean."
